"Why more accurate?" you ask? In the popup, k-edit-label & k-edit-field are the first two children of the parent div with class k-edit-form-container. With custom templates, there's no guarantee the first input is what you're looking to hide! Since that first "input" (or whatever the template wants) is within the first k-edit-field div, this answer's selector has fewer edge cases.
